January, 2014

From The Desk Of President

I wish all the members of ASIMA a very Happy New Year-2014. May this new year bring Health, Wealth and Prosperity to all.

During the last 7 months of this tenure (June 2013 to December 2013) we have conducted 7 governing board meetings, 3 general body meetings, some executive meetings and a few seminars and workshops. The details appear on next pages.

Year 2013 has gone past registering a fall in sales and less growth in manufacturing sector. I hope year 2014 will show a pick-up as various departments like MSME, NSIC, NID, PHD Chamber, DIC and educational institutes are trying to interact with industry for improvements and innovations in order to give a boost to industry. Govt. of India is also providing funds through DST (Department of Science & Technology) to promote manufacturing sector for more growth & development. DST is planning to setup a National Hub on instrumentation to facilitate prototype making, production and marketing of scientific instruments at CSIO, Chandigarh. Recent efforts on the part of CSIO to meet regularly Industry's representatives is a step in direction to bridge the gap between Industry and Govt. departments. It is high time that Ambala Science Industry rise to the occasion and avail the opportunity being provided by CSIO, Chandigarh.

Once again my best wishes for the NEW YEAR.

Ramesh Nagpal

ASIMA comes to the Aid of Fire Victims

There was a blast in a glass blowing unit at Khojkipur Village of Ambala on 24-10-2013. An emergency meeting was called at 5 p.m. in Punjabi Mohalla and at a short notice about 60-70 persons from glass blowing units (ASIMA members & non-members) gathered. They were cautioned to take Safety measures in their units. It was decided to give a request letter to Kumari Selja – Union Minister for Social Justice & Employment and MP from Ambala to ensure reasonable financial compensation to the victims. She was also requested to ensure that other glass unit owners were not harassed unnecessarily by the administration.

Fire Safety Norms

Fire Station Officer Mr. A.K.Chopra and his team had started visiting glass blowing units to check for the safety measures in the industry. Most of the members were not aware of these safety measures. The members of Association met FSO and procured First-Aid Fire Safety Norms for the industry in general and glass blowing units in particular. A circular on 22-11-2013 was sent to the members for information and awareness. Following are the first -Aid Fire Safety Norms:

1. Units must have Buckets With Sand. 2. One Fire Extinguisher per 1000 Sq. Ft. area. 3. LPG cylinder should be used through a Pipe-Line only. 4. An Emergency Display Board should be fixed on wall with Telephone Numbers of (a) FIRE BRIGADE (101) (b) AMBULANCE (102) (c) POLICE (100) 5. Units using LPG connection must follow common precautions as directed by LPG companies.

Seminar on Fire Safety Norms

On 25-12-2013 a seminar was held in Arya Samaj Mandir Bhavan. Sh. Vinay Pratap Singh, SDM Ambala was invited as Chief Guest and Sh. A. K. Chopra, FSO Ambala as Guest of Honour. More than hundred persons, mainly from Glass Blowing Industry, attended the seminar. Sh. Bhushan Oberoi ASIMA Member & President Arya Samaj narrated the profile of Glass Blowing Industry. He said that most of the entrepreneurs of glass blowing units are very small and have investment in the range of Rs. 20000/- to Rs. 50000/- only. They have very little working spaces and it is difficult for them to adopt expensive safety norms. He also suggested that a separate industrial area should be developed for small glass blowing units. Here the units could get constructed halls of 600-700 Sq. Ft. and LPG be supplied to them through pipe line.

SDM Sh. Vinay Pratap Singh appreciated the initiative taken by ASIMA to conduct the seminar for the awareness of members. He assured that Administration shall adopt brotherly behavior and shall not impose heavy requirement of safety equipment. SDM informed that one Seminar/Workshop shall be organized in the last week of January for training and awareness on safety norms and equipment.

Fire officer Mr. A. K. Chopra and Industrial Safety Officer Mr. Batra also addressed and expressed their views. Members keenly participated in Question-Answer session. Project Director of the meeting was Past President Mr. Ashwani Goel.
